

LISTEN: Boiling Point Talks Resiliency with Gene Fowler & Shawn Smith

Feb 13, 2017 by Huddle Staff

Entrepreneurs need a lot of things to be successful. Resilience is one of them.

Two New Brunswick entrepreneurs who know this well are Shawn Smith, founder of Don't Dis My Ability and Gene Fowler, founder of Loogaroo Animation and Games.

Both men found difficulties navigating their businesses, but have found greener pastures due to their resilience. Not long ago, Smith was nominated for the Start Up Canada Resilient Entrepreneur Award, while Fowler has rebuilt his company from bankruptcy to become the Miramichi Entrepreneur of the Year.

In this episode of Boiling Point, hosts Greg Hemmings and Dave Veale chat with Smith and Fowler about how resiliency and mentorship can take you places you never thought possible.

Listen to the episode here.