

The best part about being named the most entrepreneurial university in Canada? We're just getting started.

Every day, exciting things happen at UNB. Ideas are turned into reality, businesses are starting, and partnerships are formed. We are a university that's focused on entrepreneurship to capitalize on the culture of innovation that runs deep in Atlantic Canada. And it's working – UNB has launched 10 startups in the last three years and has 12 more in development.

For combining experiential education with opportunities for leadership, skill-development, and commercialization, we've just been named Post-Secondary Institution of the Year at the 2014 Startup Canada Awards. And we couldn't be prouder.

So, from all of us at UNB, thank you. Thank you to our government, non-profit and community partners for the investment and support. Thank you to our accelerators and incubators for the mentorship. Thank you to our faculty, students and staff for empowering innovation at every turn. And thank you to the great minds that turn ideas into industry-leading technologies and business solutions. Together, we've turned UNB into a hotbed of entrepreneurial activity – and we're just getting started.

UNB IS THE 2014 STARTUP CANADA POST-SECONDARY INSTITUTION OF THE YEAR.

UNB.ca

From left:

KAREN MURDOCK
Director – International Business & Entrepreneurship Centre

DHIRENDRA SHUKLA
Chair, Associate Professor – Dr. J. Herbert Smith Centre for Technology Management & Entrepreneurship

NANCY MATHIS
Executive Director – Wallace McCain Institute

MARTIN WIELEMAKER
Professor of Entrepreneurship, Faculty of Business, Fredericton – Activator Program

KARINA LEBLANC
Executive Director – Pond-Deshpande Centre