

Stratford-based Target Tours expanding

The Guardian Published: February 10th, 2018

Tour operator Target Tours, based in Stratford, has acquired Duncan Island Tours, as part of an expansion that includes a new brand and new touring products. From left, Lynn Dunphy and John Dunphy, owners of Target Tours, meet with Duncan Conrad, former owner of Duncan's Island Tours. - Submitted

STRATFORD - Tour operator Target Tours, based in Stratford, has acquired Duncan Island Tours, as part of an expansion that includes a new brand and new touring products.

Target Tours began in 2009 as a bus tour company offering routes from the Maritimes to destinations in North America and Europe.

It has since diversified and developed Step-On guides for inbound group tours to the Maritimes.

Due to the high growth in this area of the company, Target Tours is rebranding its inbound business to "Target Tours Atlantic".