The ameliaRES system is a passenger service system complete with reservation, flight, fare, and inventory management.

Jazz said it will utilise the system's internal departure control system to further enhance its ground handling service delivery to current and future customers.

InteliSys Aviation Systems provides airline information technology and airline software solutions. It has, since 1987, focused on providing IT solutions for regional and low-cost carriers as well as corporate flight operations.

Jazz Aviation operates as Air Canada Express and Jazz.
